TO THE TRADE.

E ask your attention in this the eleventh year of our history as a manufacturing establishment to our new and completely revised catalogue and price list. The many changes consequent to a rapidly increasing business have necessitated a complete new compilation.

The rapid growth of our business the past year has impressed us more firmly than ever with the conviction that honest goods and reliable formulæ faithfully followed soon obtain recognition and appreciation from a conscientious and discriminating profession.

The Domestic, or Non-Patent, Remedies may be non-secret or not, as buyer prefers, i. e., with or without published formula. They can be furnished with buyer's address on both wrapper and label, or our address or some other address, as wished. Special formulæ or special wrappers used when desired. Correspondence solicited, and estimate of cost given on same when requested.

To avoid confusion, use our titles and numbers when ordering domestic remedies from list, and give in detail any special printing when it is desired.

We manufacture all the Officinal Preparations of the Pharmacopæia, and all unofficinal in popular use, of uniform and standard strength. We ask especial attention to our largely increased line of toilet requisites, druggist's necessaries, and show-case goods.

OUR PHARMACEUTICAL SPECIALTIES are preparations that by patent medicine methods different manufacturers have created a demand for—articles usually of genuine merit, but for which exorbitant prices are asked by the promoters. We list them at a price commensurate with cost of manufacturing, affording the pharmacist a handsome margin on goods that otherwise would be θ -spensed at unsatisfactory profits.

Owing to market fluctuations, we do not hold ourselves bound to the list prices, but reserve to ourselves the right to change same without notice. This, however, only applies in case of extraordinary changes in the cost of crude drugs.

ESPECIAL ATTENTION IS ASKED FOR OUR PERFUMES. This important branch of our business has shown remarkable growth.

TERMS: Ninety days, or 5 % off ten days; to be settled by bank acceptance, with exchange on Detroit, Chicago or New York. Local checks credited less cost of collection.

We make no charge for containers, boxcs, or cartage.

Freight Allowance: Actual freight, provided it does not exceed 10% of the amount of the invoice, by the cheapest mode of transportation, will be allowed on goods of our manufacture on receipt of the original freight bill, which must be returned at once for credit. No allowance for goods sent by mail or express, or for cartage at destination. All claims for allowance, including freight, must be made within five days after goods are received.

Always note if your freight bill corresponds with rate on bill of lading. Respectfully,

FREDERICK F. INGRAM & CO.

WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY

Of thanking our friends for their very cordial support and of presenting them with a few illustrations which will convey something of an idea of our Laboratory and Plant, the place where our goods are manufactured and our business is done.

GENERAL OFFICES.

Our business, for convenience, may be classified under four heads: 1st, the Laboratories; 2d, the Finishing Departments; 3d, the Printing Department, and 4th, the General Office Department. Our establishment occupies Nos. 37 and 39 Larned Street

West, opposite the Post Office, in the center of the city. We occupy the entire building consisting of two stores of six floors, fitted with all the modern conveniences, such as steam heating, electric bells, speaking tubes, a three ton power elevator, also a light hand elevator for small parcels, both communicating with every floor. A system of electric bells connected with a chronometer in the general office, rings through the building the hours of 7, 12, etc., regulating the beginning and ending of labor for the employes. On the ground floor, aside from the engine room, with its 25 H. P.

boiler, space is occupied by our shipping room and bottle washing department, the latter is provided with a galvanized iron floor, with a sewer connection, conveying the drip water from the washed bottles away from our building. Here are found the tubs, vats, sinks, etc., each provided with hot and cold water pipes, necessary in washing bottles on so large a scale. The balance of this floor is. reserved for storage of bottles, the many hundred styles we have to carry (mostly from our own moulds) being piled from floor to ceiling, tier upon tier.

The second floor is occupied in front by the general offices, balance of space by printing department, and the storage room for perfumers' raw material and also for finished perfumes, the latter, the main odors and bouquets are here stored in sixty gallon tanks to ripen (the usual time allowed, six months), before being conveyed to the next floor above to be bottled, and made ready for the trade.

LOZENGE AND CONFECTION ROOM.

The third floor is devoted entirely to finishing (labeling, wrapping and boxing of goods). This work is entirely done by young ladies, except the foreman and assistant. There are two departments on this floor, separated by solid partitions—the perfume finishing room and the general finishing room, here thirty girls find employment the year round.

The fourth floor is devoted to manufacturing, and contains three departments: First the powder room, where are prepared all products that come under this head, except Seidlitz Powders; second department is occupied by the lozenge, confection and tablet manufacturing, the suppository machines, and medicinal cigarettes; the third room is taken up in the manufacturing of salves, cerates, lotions, liniments and similar preparations. The work people are about equally divided as to sex on this floor, and each department is isolated from all others by solid partitions, preventing contamination by vapors and odors.

The fifth floor is the laboratory proper, and is in four departments. We first enter to the left, the filling department, where at long tables peculiarly arranged for the purpose, stand girls, before them trays of bottles, and above them the cans (usually of ten gallon capacity), from which they convey the contents to the bottles by means of flexible tubes. To the right is the percolating room, in which is constantly in service a medley of this indispensable apparatus, ranging from five to sixty gallon capacity, both the gravity and pressure system are used. In the next room, running the entire length of the building, are the stills and steam jackets, the drying room arranged for granular salts, etc., heated by steam coils, the mixing tanks, ranging in size from twenty to two hundred and fifty gallons, made from earthenware, copper and iron, and other apparatus too numerous to mention, the machinery, including emulsifiers, mills, automatic stirrers in the evaporating kettles, the pomade washers, capable of washing one hundred and fifty gallons of perfume at a batch, are all run from one line of shafting that extends the length of the building. The fourth floor is also provided with power, as is also the sixth floor, which, besides the drug mills, is taken up with storage of crude drugs, surplus stock, and containers of all kinds

The analytical laboratory is on the fifth floor. In this room all the products to be used in manufacturing are carefully examined and analyzed as they come in, and considering the extent of our purchases, there is considerable analytical work to do. Nothing is used until it is examined and found fully up to the highest standard, upon which we insist in the case of everything we buy. The importance of vigilance in this department cannot be over estimated. In essential oils, especially, of which we are one of the largest consumers in the country, a rigid adherence to the highest standard of excellence and purity as demonstrated by chemical analysis, is absolutely essential to permanent success. All the departments are in charge of thoroughly competent people, it being a principle with us in business, to have none but the best. All engaged in the manufacturing departments must have had a pharmaceutical training. Mr. Ingram, the senior member and manager, has spent his entire business life in practical pharmacy, was an active member in the firm of Williamson, Ingram

POMADE WASHERS, ETC.

& Griggs, our predecessors, as he also was of the firm of Milburn & Williamson, who founded the business in 1882. Whatever our hands have found to do, we have done it with all our might. Our efforts have been crowned with success, whether that success is deserved, is another matter, anyway we have done our best.

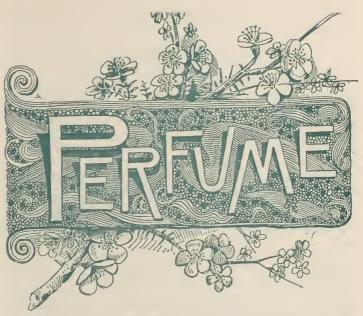

Frederick F. Ingram & Co.,

Proprietors,

DETROIT. MICHIGAN.

The kisses of a thousand flowers stolen from them while they sleep.—R. Brough.

It is the careful, the discriminating druggist, the self-reliant business man, we desire to address. He who buys his perfume stock as he buys his potatoes,—where he can get the most for the money,—we are not ambitious to sell.

With perfumes, value depends on strength, delicacy, exquisiteness and fidelity in odor to name, not mere weight. Again, the self-reliant druggist does not pay an exhorbitant price because a manufacturer years ago, when the art was crude and competition less keen, attained a reputation.

To those who believe in merit and quality, and decide their purchases by that standard, we submit a line of bulk and bottled perfumes at a moderate price, that in strength, delicacy, in all that makes a perfume desirable, are the equal of any brands offered in the American market, whatever the price asked.

Frederick F. Ingram & Co.,

Proprietors Wing's Perfumes.

THE ART.

The refinement of a community or a nation is denoted by their appreciation or lack of appreciation of fine odors. A taste for perfume is inseparable from a love of the beautiful. The scents of the heliotrope, violet or rose are as precious as the lovely flowers whose breath they are, and while the lives of the flowers are brief and we can only enjoy them for a day, the art of perfumery gives their fragrance to us as a permanent blessing.

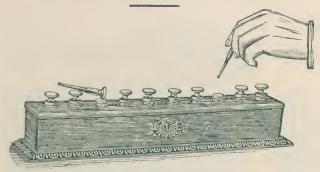

There is a delight in the use of perfume as elevating, as refined as a taste for painting, poetry or music.

The art of perfumery may be compared to the art of painting—the artist, with his palette and brush and many colors, seeks to reproduce the beauty of the flower to the eye.—The perfumer preserves its fleeting fragrance.—The artist finds there are three primary colors, red, yellow and blue; his skill consists in so blending these as to counterfeit every shade and hue he finds in nature.—The perfumer also blends the odors that nature yields to his skill in such a way as to reproduce the most delicate flowers to our mind through the sense of smell and to combine them with substances not in themselves regarded fragrant, but which possess the property of "fixing" the odor, making it far more enduring than the flickering scent of the original flower.

Perfumes are refreshing, stimulating and healthful, their fragrance is purifying, while the opposite is true of unpleasant odors, any bad smell is a danger warning; the worst smelling substances known have arsenic for their base. The sweet, pure breath of the babe is suggestive of innocence and health; the soft fragrance of pleasing perfumes suggests to the senses purity, health and elegance; it is the refinement of civilization; an index of good taste, it is indicative of a desire to please, and an unerring badge of gentility.

WING'S PERFUME SAMPLER.

(Patented June 23, 1891. No. 454,772.)

This invaluable druggist's requisite contains ten half-ounce bottles fitted with elongated ground-glass stoppers extending to bottom of bottles. The stopper being withdrawn, retains a drop of perfume, a quantity so small the spirits evaporate quickly, leaving only the fragrance of the flower,—an ideal method of sampling perfume, and the only method that will give a true and correct impression bottles can not be removed from the case, thus preventing all waste. The bulk odors can be kept out of reach of outsiders. Each bottle is labeled on neck above case, also on the flat top of stopper. objections to the old style rack, holding pound and half-pound bottles, (that it was almost impossible to keep it presentable, being a conspicuous target for dust, dirt and fly specks; that perfumes being always exposed, and being constantly opened, stoppers changed, etc., rapidly deteriorated, causing much loss), are entirely overcome of case 18 inches long, 31/2 inches wide, 31/2 inches high; is an ornament, a novelty, and attracts much attention; is made up in antique oak, bird's-eye maple or mahogany finish, equal in workmanship and appearance to the finest piano, and is furnished our customers with orders of not less than ten 9-oz, bottles.

Ingram's Patent Perfume Atomizer.

(Patented September 6, 1892. Nos. 481, 951 and 481,952.)

It is made of metal, nickel plated, revolves on a base of polished wood, and occupies in use but very little of the druggist's valuable space on show-case or counter, being but $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches wide; it has no bottles or stoppers to break or become misplaced, and cannot easily be broken or get out of repair. It contains an assortment of ten odors, any one of which can be sprayed at will by simply pressing the bulb which connects with each tube by means of a slip-joint. It cannot be operated without the bulb, which can be placed out of reach of outsiders when so desired. The label of each perfume is lithographed on a metallic disc attached to each tube.

It promotes the sale of perfumes; is a fine ornament, sure to attract much attention; easily kept clean; throws a perfect spray and owing to its peculiar construction the tubes are not liable to clog as with ordinary atomizers.

We furnish this unique and novel Atomizer gratis with an order for Wing's Perfumes amounting to twenty dollars and upwards.

Wing's Odors in Bulk sumer. The package is finished with close attention to all details, presenting the finest effect, and is an ornament to the show-case or counter. A sheet of retailer's lithographed labels for the druggist's use in dispensing is enclosed in carton with each bottle.

WING'S SPECIAL ODORS

EPRESENT the new ideas and advances in the art of Perfume. They are the best product of the perfumer's skill and knowledge. Wing's specialties are often chosen by the fastidious on account of their affording a grateful relief to the monotony of the standard odors. So, without prejudice to the standard odors, which represent the development of the public taste and are deservedly popular, and with the assurance that you will never be disappointed in any perfume that bears the name of 'Wing's." We recommend to the consideration of connoisseurs Wing's specialties, and first,

THE DUCHESS. A remarkable perfume that has no equal for the handkerchief; and while the most lasting of all odors, it is not loud; on the contrary, is sweet and refined, like the violet.

MIMOSA is a strong and positive perfume, a deliciously agreeable scent. refined and chaste.

NIAGARA SPRAY is a pungent odor, suggestive of the woodland, forest and stream; is fragrant and very lasting.

APPLE BLOSSOM is a strikingly close resemblance to the real orehard bloom.

MAY APPLE BLOSSOM is an odor suggestive of the Sweet Mandrake or May Apple.

FRANCES FOLSOM is a queenly perfume, attaining a great popularity during the past five years that has made it a leader.

GOLDEN ROD. Our national flower gives name and individuality to one of the most popular of Wing's odors.

WING'S WHITE LILAC is a strong and lasting odor, more flowery than is usual with perfumes of the Lilac variety.

FLOWERS OF ITALY is deserving of especial mention, as are also PRIDE OF MICHIGAN and CHERUB BOUQUET, bouquets that have attained lasting popularity wherever known.

HEAVY CALCINED MAGNESIA.

Highly beneficial in all the diseases of the stomach and bowels which are attended with acidity, and gives immediate relief to heartburn. The effects of excess in eating or drinking are generally relieved by it, and it affords one of the mildest and most pleasant aperients, especially to persons who, from a sedentary life or other causes, are under the frequent necessity of having recourse to laxatives. To persons of a bilious or a gouty habit, it may be recommended with peculiar propriety; and its virtues have been repeatedly verified in the diseases of warm climates. Many of the complaints of children in early infancy, and even at more advanced periods are attended with acidity; and in such cases the Heavy Calcined Magnesia has a great advantage over other absorbents.

COMPOUND RHUBARB CORDIAL, WITH PANCREATIN.

The virtues of a combination of Rhubarb, Golden Seal, Ceylon Cinnamon, with an Alkali Bi-Carbonate Patassa, are too well known to need comment. Pancreatin—albuminoid principle of the Pancreas—transforms starch into sugar, and dextrine converts proteids into peptones, emulsifies fat, curdles the caseine of milk, and in general exhibits all the important functions of this organ.

In cases of obstinate constipation, in acidity of the stomach, dyspepsia, and as a gentle Laxative in Pregnancy, the Compound Rhubarb Cordial is used with the best results. Cholera Morbus, Sick Stomach, Colic, Diarrheea and Dysentery, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are controlled and corrected without unpleasant after effects.

PRICE: 60c. per pint; $3.50 per gallon; $6.50 per dozen pints.

It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, and being free from the styptic disagreeable taste of Tinct. Ferri, U. S. P., also being entirely free from the corrosive action so destructive to the enamel of the teeth, it is admirably suited for administration to delicate patients suffering from chlorosis and similar diseases due to mal-nutrition and want of hæmaglobin in the blood. This tincture forms staple mixtures with elixirs of a splendid light green color. It contains exactly 94 grains Anhydrous Ferrous Chloride to the fluid ounce.

TESTIMONIALS.

Goods eminently satisfactory. White House, O., July 13, 1886.

Respectfully,

F. M. HEALTH.

I am well pleased with the style your goods are put up. Vaiden, Miss., Oct. 10, 1886. J. B. Harrell.

Goods I buy of you give general satisfaction and are good sellers.

I am, respectfully,

Waymansville, Ind, Oct. 17, 1887.

T. H. BERGDOLL.

Send my order as soon as possible, as I am entirely out; also ½ lb. Wing's Extract Wild Apple Blossom, it is splendid. Very truly yours, Philadelphia, Sept. 19, 1891.

W. W. Test.

I put in a full line of Wing's Perfumes, with which you sent me one of your sample test racks. It has proved a very valuable factor to make perfume sales, as the goods are kept always on exhibition without loss to me or deterioration of goods. I can fully recommend Wing's Perfumes, and also the very attractive manner they are shown.

FLUID EXTRACTS.

Subject to Trade Discount.

The quality of a Fluid Extract depends on three things:—first, drug; second, method of making; third, care in making. The crude drug must be the best obtainable, quality, not price, governing the selection.

Given a good drug, it should be completely exhausted of its active ingredients, accompanied with as little inert matter as possible.

To accomplish this, the methods employed have been as various as have been the results obtained. By heat, as directed in the Pharmacopæia and similar processes, the active principles of many drugs are decomposed. Moreover, the soft extract is often not entirely soluble in the reserved percolate, a turbid fluid resulting. "MACERATION AND Expression" likewise is objectionable; no drug can be exhausted by simple maceration, and in the expression much besides the medicinal principles are added to the fluid extract. WE CLAIM the medicinal constituents of a drug can be completely exhausted therefrom without decomposing their natural properties, only by Cold Re-Percolation. By our system the drug is subjected to a QUADRUPLE RE-PERCOLA-TION through deep, narrow, cylindrical percolators. No heat or expression being employed, the resulting fluid is PERMANENT, CLEAR and of UNIFORM STRENGTH.

Attention is called to our labels giving the botanical and common names, habitat, active constituents, properties, dose and formulæ for making tinctures, syrups, etc. To lessen the liabilities of accident, we use red labels for the poisons, giving antidote.

FLUID EXTRACTS.

IN PINT, HALF-PINT, QUARTER-PINT AND FIVE PINT BOTTLES.

ALSO IN BULK IN JUGS OR WOOD. PINT BOTTLES WILL BE SUPPLIED ON ORDERS IN ABSENCE OF SPECIFICATIONS TO THE CONTRARY.

The list price per pint will be reduced 10 cents when five pint bottles are ordered, and 15 cents when supplied in gallon quantities and upwards in single containers. An addition of 10 cents per pint to list price will be made on orders for half pints and an addition of 20 cents per pint for quarter pints.

TESTIMONIALS.

I herewith enclose order for goods. I am well pleased with first order. In addition to order, I want one gross Cough Drops, put up in 5 cent packages. The Sarsaparilla, Stillingia, Red Clover, etc., are taking the lead.

Yours most respectfully,

Springfield, O., February 2, 1887.

J. W. NELSON, M. D.

I am out of the Compound Sprup Sarsaparilla and Iod Potassa, and have waited some time thinking I could find something else that I wanted, but can't think of anything, and I must have the "Favorite Blood Purifier." Send me three dozen as soon as possible It gives best satisfaction. Keep the standard up and I can sell lots of it.

Yours,

McArthur, O., June 13, 1885.

G. W. SISSON.

PERFUMES.

THE VERDICT.

Your perfumes came in nice condition. I am well pleased with your goods.

Very truly,

W. H. ROSA,

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 24, 1892.

40 West Fulton St.

Our experience with the sampler and your output of perfumes has been most satisfactory.

Yours truly,

Pierre, S. D , May 6, 1891.

N. G. STE. MARIE.

We will say that your perfumes have given us better satisfaction than any line of perfumes we have ever handled. That is the line right through, for every individual odor is complete.

Very respectfully,

Graud Rapids, Mich., Jan. 25, 1891.

H. MATTHEWS & Co.

Frederick F. Ingram & Co. in New Quarters.

As was stated in the last number of The Circular, the premises of Frederick F. Ingram & Co., of Detroit, Mich., suffered from a severe fire March 15th.

This undaunted firm resumed business on the following day in the large modern building on the site where James E. Davis & Co. were recently burned out.

The stock of bottles, wrappers, labels, etc., etc., of Messrs. Ingram, together with their formula books, ledgers, and stock of perfume tinctures and pomade washings were saved.

They have secured a long lease on the Davis building, 37 and 39 Larned street, where they have more ample facilities, and have stocked it with new materials and are able to fill all orders with dispatch. Their total loss is estimated to be $40,000, while the insurance is only two-thirds of that amount.—The Druggists Circular and Chemical Gazette, May, 1892.

FREDICK F. INGRAM & Co., of Detroit, have presented three of their employes—Charles Harrington, George Lougna and Arthur Kempton—each with a gold watch in recognition of their valued assistance subsequent to their recent fire. It is reported that the boys worked like beavers night and day to bring order out of chaos, and we cougratulate them on having an employer who recognized their faithful service—The Western Druggist, August, 1892.

Frederick F. Ingram, Detroit, Mich.:

Dear Sir,—"Lay on McDuff!" We have read your interview in the Detroit Times with much pleasure, and the druggists of the country should appreciate your efforts in their cause. Success to you personally and much prosperity to your business.

Respectfully,

Fort Worth, Texas, August 31, 1891.

TEXAS DRUG CO.
